

Teaching Fellows: Servant Leadership
College of Education: Teachers as Builders of Knowledge, Values, and Community

Teaching Fellows

The mission of the S.C. Teaching Fellows Program is to recruit talented high school seniors into the teaching profession and to help them develop leadership qualities.

Teaching Fellows Award: Teaching Fellows participate in advanced enrichment programs at Teaching Fellows Institutions, have additional professional development opportunities, and are involved with communities and businesses throughout the state. They receive up to $24,000 in fellowship funds (up to $6000 a year for four years) while they complete a degree leading to initial teacher certification. All Teaching Fellows awards are contingent upon funding from the SC General Assembly. A Fellow agrees to teach in a South Carolina public school one year for every year he or she receives the Fellowship. For more information and to apply, visit: Cerra.org/teaching-fellows.html.

The Anderson University Teaching Fellows Program provides candidates knowledge and skills in the context of a faith-based environment focusing on the development of character, servant leadership, and cultural engagement to impact the learning of all students. AndersonUniversity.edu/teachingfellows

The Anderson University College of Education prepares teacher candidates to become Christ-centered educators who are builders of knowledge, values, and community. Throughout the program, students learn pedagogy as well as how to cultivate the patient, caring heart needed to inspire students in today's classrooms. To prepare outstanding teachers, the AU COE is committed to each candidate's intellectual, physical, social, and spiritual growth. AndersonUniversity.edu/education
